

The Department of Modern Languages and Literatures

with sponsorship from the Departments of Women and Gender Studies; English Language & Literature; Humanities & Comparative World Literature presents:

Around the World in Non-Binary Terms

Have you ever wondered how gender diversity is expressed in languages other than English? Join us for a presentation and roundtable discussion!

October 25th (Wed) at 12pm
Humanities 473

Dr. Linton

Dr. Vandergriff

Dr. Luengo

Dr. Anne Linton (Professor of French), Dr. Ilona Vandergriff (Professor of German), and Dr. Ana Luengo (Associate Professor of Spanish) will illustrate how languages with grammatical gender have adapted to changing notions around gender identity, including the use of non-binary pronouns. Each presenter will discuss grammatical challenges unique to their respective language and share creative innovations that speakers of these languages have developed in a quest for a more inclusive language.

Pizza and drinks provided!

SCAN QR CODE
FOR ZOOM OPTION

